FOR CONGRESSMAN 1st District,
CHARLES H. JOYCE.

Hiram Atkins is reported to have said recently, to a friend who called on him: "If Hancock is elected there is nobody in Vermont that can walk over this rooster." Perhaps Mr. Atkins never said this, but it is true all the same. Atkins has almost as strong a hold on the Democracy of the state as Boss Tweed ever had in New York city, and his actions, during the past few years, show that all favor will be given to the old copperhead element in the party, to the exclusion of war Democrats and the new recruits.

The Democratic newspapers have been gloating over a pretended opinion of the U. S. supreme court reflecting severely upon the conduct of General Garfield in relation to the DeGolyer contract. The pretended opinion was a lie made out of whole cloth and Justice Swayne has written a letter in which he says that no such case was ever in the court that he ever heard of and that he could not have given such an opinion, and that he has the highest opinion of Mr. Garfield's integrity. Now we do not suppose that many of those papers which published this falsehood will be manly enough to correct it but they will nearly all follow the course of the Troy Press which in a former campaign asserted that a lie well stuck to is almost as good as the truth.

It is the glory of our government that the poor and unlettered are protected in their rights against the rich and powerful. Why do not the oppressed masses in Ireland assert their rights against the land owners? Simply because the law and public opinion do not protect them. It seems to us that the vital difference between the two parties at present is just this: the Democratic party headed by General Hancock and dominated by the old slaveholding element at the South is essentially an aristocratic party, which would give the control of affairs into the hands of the rich and powerful regardless of the rights of the laboring classes, while the Republican party is for giving equal rights under the law to all the people of whatever class. If we are right there ought to be no hesitation on the part of any of our readers which party to aid by their votes. This is a matter worth thinking about.

The Democratic nominee for governor asked, in his recent speech accepting the nomination. Where is the evidence that negroes are not allowed to vote? We would respectfully refer Mr. Phelps to 6,000 pages of testimony taken by the congressional committee on the Ku Klux conspiracy, to the various acknowledged facts of the fact made by the southerners themselves at many different times; to the negro exodus which is declared by them to be in consequence of the fact that they have no chance where they are; to the blood of hundreds of people who have been assassinated because of their political belief and the efforts to maintain their political rights. We do not claim that this state of affairs exist in all parts of the South, but that the blacks are restrained from voting in states where their votes would make a Republican majority the proof is simply overwhelming. We are not waving the bloody shirt. We are simply answering a simple question asked by a Democrat.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION
The Democratic state convention was composed of an unusually large number of delegates and there was a good degree of harmony manifested although there was some disposition to kick against the rule of Atkins & Co.
E. J. Phelps was unanimously nominated for governor and made a brief speech, accepting the nomination. Mr. Phelps is a gentleman of good personal character and a leading member of the bar in the state. Politically he is an aristocrat to that extent that he thinks men of wealth and education should rule, to the exclusion of the laboring masses. As the result of this idea he leaned toward the pro-slavery side before and during the war, and his sympathy was never on the side of the union cause.
Even now, if his speech is correctly reported, he is as much against the civil rights and equality of the negroes as is the old slaveholding element at the South. He said:

But what is this race that it is proposed to put in the place of God Almighty, above the Anglo-Saxon? If they have the numbers, and are fit to vote, why do they not assert themselves? What would be said if the Republican majority of Vermont should say: "We don't vote because the Democratic minority won't let us, and so the troops must be called in?" The fact that in the States where the negroes are in a majority, they do not assert their power, is the strongest possible evidence that the Republicans are trying to invest with political power a class that never was and never will be fit to rule.

New we have no space at present to answer Mr. Phelps' question, but most of our readers have intelligence and information enough to answer it themselves. We will say this much, however, that government is bound by every law of justice and humanity, as well as by the constitution and laws of the nation to protect every citizen in all his civil and political rights, but it is very evident that such protection will not be afforded if men like Mr. Phelps are placed in authority.

Judging from the alacrity with which Gen. Hancock carried out the commands of President Johnson when he was placed in command of Louisiana and Texas, we are led to believe that he has about the same opinion in regard to the rights of the negroes and poor union men at the South that Mr. Phelps has. Hancock is a born aristocrat and educated in that most aristocratic of all schools, West Point, and his whole life has been spent in the army where aristocratic ideas and notions have full sway, and a "government of the people" can hardly reach its full measure of prosperity at his hands. He may be a "superb soldier" and Ed Phelps may be a superb lawyer but the people prefer for a ruler a plain man of abundant common sense, one of themselves, like Abraham Lincoln, Hayes, or Garfield.

VERMONT RIGHTS.

Under the above caption the Jersey City Herald has the following:
A correspondent of the Sun, writing from Manchester, Vermont, gives a very distressing account of the intolerance, bigotry and fanaticism of that benighted State. It is certainly a disgrace to this Republic to have included in its domain such a festering patch of political fanaticism. The correspondent says:

"There is, I think, but one Democratic newspaper in the State. I cannot get a Democratic paper to read. When I ask for one at the news stands I am insulted. The bone and sinew of the land are kept in ignorance. Light is not given them. Hence the large Republican majorities. The state has been flooded with printed blanks which, when signed, become a bond. These blanks have been distributed among the faithful and presented to every man who is considered politically doubtful. Some one who has a twist upon him will go to him with one of these documents and use the necessary means to compel him to sign it. It virtually pledges the signer to vote for Garfield and Arthur at the coming election. Thousands to day are already so pledged.
A few sturdy, horny handed Democrats here raised a hickory pole and spread to the breeze a Hancock and English banner. This was more than the chivalry of Vermont could stand. Sharpshooters poured in from the surrounding towns, and before sunset the glorious flag was trailing in the dust. The ballads were shot away at the top. It was not the first time that the Hancock banner has been fired at by the enemies of a true republic. The gallant General has carried it to victory on many a battle field, and it will float again victorious in the fall.
I read Garfield's letter of acceptance. He discourses eloquently about a free ballot, personal rights, and the integrity of the Union. You can see how his supporters in Vermont sustain his sentiments."
We had supposed that the letter to the Sun, above quoted, was to silly and unreasonable to be thought worthy of notice by anybody, but finding that other Democratic papers are copying it with such comments as the above and our attention having been called to it so many times we have concluded to occupy valuable space in reproducing it.

It is indeed a great pity that so much light is kept from the poor, ignorant masses in Vermont. We are bound to say, however, that more newspapers are taken in Vermont, according to the population, than in any other state in the Union, with possibly one or two exceptions. It is true that our people as a rule, do not take a great many Democratic papers, (probably on account of their benighted condition). Our news dealers do not find it profitable to order them as they would remain unsold for, unless some enlightened Democratic missionary from Connecticut or Mississippi or some more favored region should choose to call for one.
It is true that the Democrats had raised a pole, but nearly or quite as many Republicans, (on account of their benighted condition, we suppose), as Democrats, assisted at the raising. Soon after "sharpshooters" (in the person of Smith Jameson, a reckless, law loving individual who was as soon shot at a Republican as a Democratic banner) from the neighboring towns, and before sunset the glorious flag was trailing in the dust. The flag was not on the pole at the time, and Jameson shot at the rope from the steps of Bostwick's store, a man who is a strong Democrat and who looked on without protest and appeared to enjoy the fun as much as any one. But some how or other the rope parted and the benighted Republicans helped take down the pole, splice the rope and put it up again, and that "glorious flag" is as proudly floating as ever before, and nobody hurt. But we beg pardon for devoting so much space to so small a subject.

THE CAMPAIGN IN THE SOUTH.

The following letter from Charleston, S. C., to the New York Times, shows how the Democrats are running the campaign in that state:

The first bugle blast in the campaign to assemble the Republicans of Barnwell County at Blackville, on July 27, for the purpose of ratifying the nominations made at Chicago, has aroused the Democratic bull-dozers to action, and the kind of reception they will accord the Republicans can be conjectured from expressions in the Barnwell newspapers. The People says: "We learn that E. W. Mackey and W. N. Taft, the bravest and most brazen Radicals in the State, together with numerous lesser party lights, will be in Blackville on Tuesday. There is one lesson which the Republicans of this State have not learned. The sooner they know and become reconciled to this state of things the better it will be for them. It is this: The Democrats have obtained control of the State of South Carolina, and they intend to retain it at every hazard and in spite of the utmost efforts of local enemies and their Northern allies. We are requested by the highest competent Democratic authority to invite all Democratic candidates to attend the Republican meeting. They are expected to be on hand. The Barnwell Sentinel, after citing the subject of the meeting says: 'It is the duty of the Democratic Party to have representatives at this meeting from all parts of the county. So let all clubs send fair representatives among them. Let them be men who will nail fire to the wall as soon as they are told. Democratic candidates should attend to a man.'

The clubs mentioned are the notorious Red Shirt, Rifle and Sabre Clubs which committed the outrage and murders in 1876 in Ellenton, only a few miles from Blackville, in the same county. They will, of course, attend the meeting, and, in accordance with their usual method, become masters of ceremony, invite Democratic speakers on the stand, and order the Republicans to step off, and if the latter do not choose to listen to the former they can go away. The result will be a Democratic "powwow." It would be an excellent opportunity for Northern Republicans to come to the meeting, unknown and unannounced, and witness the treatment Republicans receive in this State who are brave enough to assert their manhood. Messrs. Mackey and Taft seem not the least discouraged. Both have expressed the determination to be heard at that meeting if they sacrifice their lives in the attempt.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.
The Democrats of Bennington County and all legal voters therein who favor the election of Hancock and English in November, are requested to meet in mass Convention at Arlington, Thursday, August 19th, 1888, at 10:30 a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Senators and County officers to be voted for on the first Tuesday of September next, and appoint a County Committee.

STATE NEWS.

Orleans county has a population of 22,013, a gain of 978 since 1870.
Rutland county has a population of 41,771—a gain of 1120 since 1870.
Windus county has 34,993 inhabitants against 36,064 in 1870. Rutland, Westfield, Ludlow, Weston and Windus are the only towns which have grown.

At Wells River, Friday, Miss Alpha A. Chamberlain committed suicide by hanging herself with a sheet across the foot of her bed.
Rutland had a great Republican ratification meeting Friday night, at which Colonel Joyce made a stirring address. A Garfield club was formed, with Joel M. Haven as president.

Edward Short, a son of John M. Short of Rutland, shot himself in the head at Niagara Falls on Monday, and will probably die. He is about 24 years old, and says that he went to the Falls for the purpose of committing suicide.

F. D. Barrow, Esq., of Waltham, Addison county, is building what is said to be the largest in the state. The dimensions are: Main part, 86x50 feet; porches, 53 1-2 feet long with a 9 feet (high) breastwork below; rafters 30 feet. Wing 108x40; porches 25 feet; rafters, 50 feet.

The Indiana State House commissioners have awarded a contract, amounting to $60,000, to the Superior Falls marble company, for the furnishing of material for trimming the new State House at Indiana.

The Central Vermont have put two handsome drawing-room cars on the Saratoga and White Mountain route, via Rutland, Bellows Falls and White River Junction.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Vermont State Teacher's Association will be held at Bellows Falls on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 4th, 5th and 6th.

The mining interest in the vicinity of Stockbridge seems to be flourishing. A large outlay of money and labor has been expended on the Pittsfield Iron Works. About fifty men are employed, a large boarding house is being built, and with engine house and kilns for burning coal and work opening, the mine makes all hands busy. The ore is reported to yield 60 per cent. Every carpenter and spore hand is wanted, and farm help is scarce.

The meeting of the stockholders of the famous Rutland bank, which was held at Bellows Falls on Monday of last week, has caused much activity in political matters in the second Congressional district, as one of the directors of the bank, Hon. James M. Tyler of Brattleboro, is the present member of Congress for re-election. What was stated at the meeting of the stockholders relative to the directors not being willing to call a meeting was untrue. Mr. Tyler has today taken measures to call a legal meeting as soon as possible. Last November Mr. Tyler and the directors made a careful examination of Mr. Waite's bank. If there had been no forged paper, he says, it was as sound a bank as any in the State of Vermont. He says that Mr. Waite was always willing he should examine any paper or books in the bank. In fact, he invited it, and at this examination every note was looked up and pronounced all right. If at that time any one had suspected forged paper the bubble would have burst, but no one entertained the thought.

Proof Positive.
"What everybody says must be true," therefore it is proof positive that Kendall's Spavin Cure will cure spavins, splints, curbs and all unnatural enlargements and will remove the bunch without blistering. Read their advertisement, for the remedy is having an unprecedented sale which is entirely on its merits. It is now sold by nearly if not all druggists. Remember the name is Kendall's Spavin Cure.

No Puffery. Nothing can be more offensive to conscientious journalists than indiscriminate puffery. But it is a pleasure to speak candidly and correctly in praise of such a medicine as HUNT'S REMEDY for the Kidneys, Bladder, Liver and Urinary Organs; a specific and positive cure that has been before the public for twenty-five years, and has rescued from suffering and the grave even the victims of Bright's Disease. The facts in regard to HUNT'S REMEDY, the great Kidney and Liver Medicine, are attested by high authority.

Meadow King Mower

The perfection of Mowing Machines.

The Meadow King is not a new and untried machine, having been manufactured 14 years, with not less than 40,000 now in use. Nearly all of these first built are in good condition, and with ordinary care will do good work many years yet. And while we have kept up fully with the times, in the improvements of this Mower, no change or improvement has ever been made which could not be applied to any of the machines regardless of the time when built. The method is unequalled in simplicity, and is in accordance with correct mechanical principles. Only three wheels are used, which are carried high up from the ground, midway between the drive wheels. The first or slow motion is obtained by hand gear, and the quick motion by spur of straight gear. With this most simple arrangement of gearing, friction is reduced to the minimum; weight equally distributed and great durability secured. The draft arrangement is also peculiar to this mower, making it a perfect counter draft machine and removing all weight from the horses' necks when it is in use, whether the driver is on the seat or not. For ease of draft in comparison with other standard mowers we would refer to the following General test:

Haberdashery, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Buckley (New Model), 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Buckley (Old Model), 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Walter A. Wood, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Johnston, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Whitcomb, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Newer Bow, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Keyston, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢
Meadow King, 4 ft. 6 in., 25¢

Being from 5 to 14 lbs. per foot lighter than any one on the list. This only confirms what we have always claimed for the Meadow King—that it is the lightest draft standard Mower in the market. Many of these machines are used in this vicinity and all give the very best satisfaction.
